ABOUT AGROGESTA

AgroGesta International establishes the following operating procedure for the international commercialization of our products of Ecuadorian origin, designed in accordance with international commodity-trade practices and ensuring transparency, financial security, product traceability, and documentary compliance.

AgroGesta's global structure comprises an integrated group of companies dedicated to farming, processing and packaging, supply-chain management, responsible sourcing, and the export of agricultural commodities. With operations strategically positioned in the United States, Europe, and Ecuador, the group operates as a unified entity to ensure seamless coordination from origin to destination, consistently upholding the standards of quality, regulatory compliance, and traceability. The organization operates through five specialized subsidiaries, each performing a critical role within the global value chain.

AgroGesta's global structure functions as one cohesive institution in its processes, governance, and product offerings, delivering a harmonized and efficient global operation.
